Happy Holidays Ms. Sawari

Greetings Friend!

Thank you for the Media as always and the calendar as well. It's beautiful, powerful and just super raw to me. You did very well with it. I've already been showing it off <sup>smile face</sup> to everyone. I could go on all day about it that's how much I love it. I so look forward to throwing the old Menard calendar away and hangin up my new one. Thank you.

It's so cool to know you checked out the blog. It's still a work in progress and she's kinda slow with keepin up, (probably cuz I write too much.) So it's updated on the regular. I think it's a long story how we got to it and cuz you a busy woman I'll spare you the details. We meet through a third person though. Her mother-in-law was ~~my~~ one of my teachers in 2nd grade. That lady keep me in her heart all these years after only one year of

I keep her in my Heart too. That lady is ~~the~~ God sent been around me. She found me on Facebook in 2011. 2014 when I got Arrested she had been in my corner everstep of the way. I was in such a dark place fightin my case she suggested that I write. After so much of writing "housewife" was intrested in creating the blog to like get my voice out due to my experiences plus she wanted to be a writer so we kinda linked like that. The Fact we complete opposites. Live in complete opposites world (but still in one world) makes it intresting. So thats really it. Eventually The name Savagelife will chenge cause

↖
I'm not in that phase no more.

Once again I salute your hardwork. dedication. And all them other big words I cant seem to think of right now. I truly wish I could be of service. but I will be spreading the Media. I even mentioned it on my blog (B Awhile BU you see it. she backed up) I'm trying be careful who I let into your P.O box cuz unforucntly dudes be wierd! (you already know)
And I'll keep fightin if you do! -Dahvie

PS.
And Happy
New Year.
